Fantastical expectations of smaller dwellings!

This graphic exploration aims to focus light onto a systemic blind spot regarding housing unaffordability around the world. Geometry and material, while relevant, are minor factors in a housing crisis. Immediate major factors are money and labour. As money is embodied human labour, the causal factor of a housing crisis is our precepts of money. How do architects fix money?

Condo Paradise is an all-in-one Cradle-to-cradle design solution, a new model proposed as a way out of the current perpetual unaffordable housing dilemma. Cryogenic chambers that are customizable to fit any body type. Reducing the antiquated concept of dwelling to its very essence (shelter, a place to sleep) architecturally we illustrate how efficient housing can be done to accommodate everyone and generate unmatched profit for all stakeholders. The concept of micro-living is the main inspiration for this new model, to reduce carbon footprint and our environmental impact why stop at Murphy bed and multi-functional kitchen island when we can keep reducing the unit space down to essentials with oxygen tubes, feeding lines, and advanced latrine system. Luxury living where everything is literally within your arm's reach!
